A force for positive change in the design / construction industry

2/01/13 – CIRT Members Named to ENR’s “TOP 25 Newsmakers”

CIRT is very pleased to add its congratulations and acknowledgement to the three active members (and one former member who has joined one of CIRT’s firms) who were named by the Engineering News-Record (ENR) to this year’s “Top 25 Newsmakers.” The prestigious recognition, established in 1964, is intended to highlight people in our design/construction community for their “innovations and achievements, for giving back to the industry and the public, and for going beyond their day-to-day jobs.”

CIRT’s members are: Charles A. Bacon III (Limbach Facility Services, LLC) for his innovative safety program initiative; Richard M. “Rik” Kunnath (Charles Pankow Builders) for his stewardship of the only privately funded foundation devoted to building innovation and applied research; Doug Woods (DPR Construction, Inc.) for his efforts to foster continuous improvement, collaboration, and innovation; and Randy Larson (former CIRT member now with member Murray Savage’s Professional Service Industries) for his dedication and commitment to the “people” who make-up PSI.

All of the winners will be honored at a gala in NYC on April 18, where one of their number will be given the “Award of Excellence.”
