2/09/12 – New TISP Regional Disaster/Action Plan Guide Available

The Infrastructure Security Partnership (TISP), of which CIRT is a member, has recently released a new version of its Regional Disaster Resilience Guide for Developing an Action Plan (hereinafter “Guide”) which updates and expands on the initial 2006 edition. The Guide is intended as a beneficial and usable tool that enables practitioners and experts to develop an actionable strategy and a tactical operation in the face of potential regional disasters. The new version reflects the broader knowledge base on resilience that exists today, including a host of new “best practices” and the increasing focus on all-hazards approach.

As a member of CIRT you have free access to the new Guide and are encouraged to use it as a source of knowledge for discussions and planning with your individual clients and public officials. The Guide is available in a PDF format on the TISP website (www.tisp.org).
