6/18/14 – Regulatory Push-Back Grows

In an important development, Senator Angus King (I-ME) has vowed to continue his efforts [with Senator Roy Blunt (R-MO)] to rein-in excessive regulatory burdens that hamper efficiencies and undercut jobs beyond the current Congress. CIRT supports the bill offered by the two Senators that would create a Congressional Regulatory Commission to oversee and review proposed rules and regulations. Growing concern has been developing over the nature, reach, and scope of rules emanating from executive agencies that appear to stretch or go around Congressional authorization and/or properly passed laws.
